RE: In Case You Missed It – Warren Resources, Inc., Donates Electric Riding Mower to John Mendez Pony Baseball

Warren Resources, Inc., who has provided the land and continued support to ensure the local Wilmington community can continue to enjoy the John Mendez Pony Baseball Park, today highlighted their recent donation of a new electric riding mower to further enhance the maintenance of the ballpark.

The EGO 52" battery-powered zero turn riding mower, which arrived earlier this month, will help keep the ball fields in great shape for the players, teams, coaches, and families of the John Men dez Pony Baseball League.

Since 2010, Wilmington has provided the land – leased back at $1 per month - and supported the general maintenance for the ballpark fences, backstops, lights, and the snack bar.

In addition to the John Mendez Pony Baseball Park, Warren also donated more land currently used as the Wilmington Community Garden since 2012. Currently SBCC Thrive LA has use of the plot through 2025. SBCC's mission is to empower individuals, families, and communities by building community networks that build social capital to drive neighborhood change. The Wilmington Community Garden has been introducing residents, children, and families to green and environmentally conscious eating and gardening since 2012. The 5,200 square foot space serves as an outdoor classroom and information hub, with nearly 700 square feet of planting space.

Warren Resources also donated two parcels of land to the Los Angeles Department of Parks and Recreation, which provides 17,000 square feet of space to relax and enjoy the open land, children's playground, and grass area.
